

SAVE ETHNIC STUDIES!!

TEACHERS RESISTING ARIZONA LAWS COME TO THE MIDWEST!!

The Arizona ban on Mexican American Studies represents an attack on immigrants, people of color, youth, teachers, community control of schools, and critical pedagogy. Norma Gonzales and Jose Gonzales are two teachers from the Tuscon Unified School District who are fighting back. They are part of the newly incorporated group Save Ethnic Studies that is mobilizing locally, statewide and nationally to resist this unjust law. Join us to learn about their struggle, stand in solidarity with Tuscon teachers and students, and build a movement uniting people of color and immigrant groups; teachers, students and parents in demanding our rights to self-determination and a quality education

The talk at Social Justice High School is part of a Midwest tour by Save Ethnic Studies. The event is free and open to everyone. However, in an effort to support this fight, we will be asking for donations at the door and will have merchandise for sale. All proceeds will go to Save Ethnic Studies.
